Doctors can help people with an intellectual disability stay healthy.

Doctors need to know how to help people with an intellectual disability stay healthy.

To help doctors to do a better job we wrote a new Framework for doctors.

The Framework helps doctors talk to people with an intellectual disability about health.

The Framework helps doctors know what people with an intellectual disability need.
The Framework helps doctors look after heart and body health.

We also wrote information to help people with an intellectual disability and their carers.

The Framework and other information can be downloaded from the 3DN website 3dn.unsw.edu.au
